BUFFALO, N. Y., June 16 .- What has been

A CHICAGO STREET BATTLE.

Eighteen Shots Fired in Fifteen Seconds-Three Men Wounded, Two Probably Fatally.

CHICAGO, June 16 .- An old fued resulted in a fight last midnight, at the corner of Adams and Halstead streets, in which three men, named Christensen, Kane and Wilson, were shot, the two former probably fatally. Two others, Spinner and Hootchan, took part in the battle, but were not wounded. Those who witnessed the shooting said that the eighteen shots were fired within fifteen seconds, and that they sounded like the reports of a couple of rapid fire guns. Bullets crashed through windows and doors. A Halstead-street car was passing at the time of the shooting, and it was loaded with passengers. A general stampede followed. The driver and conductor got behind the horses, while the passengers took refuge in stores along the street. Officers were detailed to hunt down and arrest Spinner. He is the one held most responsi-

HARRISON AT THE FAIR.

The Ex-President Given a Reception by Ohioans-Illinois Press Association, CHICAGO, June 16,-"German day" appears to have started a boom at the White City. The reaction which usually sets in the day following a big event did not occur to-day. While the attendance was not as large as that of yesterday, it was above the average. Visitors began coming early. and at noon it was estimated that 100,000 people had passed through the turnstiles, and to-night the officials of the bureau of admission estimate that the total attendance for the day will be 125,000. Many of the excursionists who took advantage of the reduced railroad rates on account of "German day" to attend the exposition are still in the city and were out, and throughout the day there was a steady click at the turnstiles. There were no special attractions at the park, except the Illinois Press Association celebration at the Illinois State building, and the persons visiting the fair were bent on sight-seeing. In this respect the crowd differed from that of yesterday, which was on a holiday jaunt. Superintendent Tucker, of the board of admissions, this afternoon gave out the official figures for the attendance yesterday as 200,706. For the corresponding day at the Centennial the attendance was 60,099.

Ex-President Benjamin Harrison was tendered a reception at the Ohio State building, this afternoon, by the State commissioners. Long before the hour set for the informal function a large crowd gathered at the door or the building. The ex-President and party were met at the Administration Building by Commissioners D. J. Ryan and H. P. Platt and driven to the Ohio building in carriages. The party consisted of ex-President Harrison, President and Mrs. Paimer, Mrs. Dimmick, Mrs. Wilmerding and daughter, General Trowbridge, wife and daughter, and May Pingree. General Anderson and other commissioners met the party at the door, and General Anderson said:

General Harrison—The State of your nativity desires very much to show you the appreciation they have of you and your position, both in peace and in war. They wish to give you a welcome, and they desire now to extend to you and your party the hospitality of our building.

General Harrison did not make a speech, simply replying: "I thank you very much, and am glad to be with your people again." Within a large number of Ohioans had gathered, and they were presented to Gen. Harrison. The doors were then thrown largen, and the ex-President experienced a handshaking ordeal. Ho was then shown through the building. Ohio has a unique department presided over by E. E. Schwarzkop, to which foreigners visiting the fair are invited and entertained. The visit lasted about an hour, after which the party continued sightseeing.

After the reception General Harrison visited the Michigan building, where about five hundred people greeted the ex-Presifive hundred people greeted the ex-President. Escorted by President Palmer, Gen. Harrison soon found a place to stand and several hundred Wolverines and their friends were presented. The Michigan reception was impromptu and informal and was soon over. Earlier in the afternoon General Harrison paid an extended visit to the California building, in company with Governor Markham, who has come to Chicago to dedicate the structure. The ex-President and Governor Markham are old Editors from every point in Illinois, a large number accompanied by their families, were at the fair to-day. The Illinois commissioner had designated the day as Illinois press day, and President Rosetta secured the attendance of a large portion of the members of the Illinois Press Association. The press rooms in the Illinois building were decorated handsomely, and here the hosts gathered this morning. Vice President Stevenson arrived early, and was tendered an impromptu reception. Seats were placed at the south entrance to the building, and here the ceremonies took place. Mr. Stevenson was the principal speaker. He said, in part: since the opening of the exposition each succeeding day has made its generous contribution to the wonders of the great event which is to leave its indelible impression on the age in which we live. It is, indeed, worth while to have lived in the closing years of the nineteenth century. What seers could have foretold, what enthusiast could have dreamed the things which our eyes behold. Chicago, the great central city in the continent, is itself the marvel of the age. Here, midway between the oceans, within a lifetime has sprung a city, having to-day a population one-half as great as the entire country at the time of the inauguration of Washington. Here are gathered the representatives of every clime, of every civilization. Before us and around us our eyes behold the products of the field, mine and sea; of furnace and of loom. Far field, mine and sea; of furnace and of loom. Far reaching will be the influence of the matchless discussions of the many congresses brought together by the Columbian exposition. The giant strides shown in every art is here recounted—what a half century of ceaseless agitation has accomplished for woman, how her condition by legislation has been improved will be told. The best methods to be pursued along the thousand pathways of human endeaver will be thousand pathways of human endeaver will be made by those who have conquered the right to teach. In a word, whoever by tongue or pen can make contribution great or small to the sum of human learning will have his day in court.

Ladies and gentlemen of the Illinois Press Association, this is your day—you have conquered the right to be heard. In fitting words, by eloquent lips, something of what you have accomplished has been told. The journalist, no less than the schoolmaster, is abroad. Your power was never so great as at this moment. Literally, it is yours to make or unmake. You can bend or loose. From the great centers of human endeavor you give out that which is worth knowing. In making possible the success which has attended the great exposition the press of Illinois has played no mean part.

Miss Clara Barton, of Washington, the famous president of the American National Red Cross Society, was tendered a reception in the lowa building this morning. Dr. J. B. Hubbell, general field agent of the Red Cross Society, who has just returned from distributing American relief in Russia, presented Miss Barton to hundreds of visitors. B. F. Tillinghast, of Davenport, Is., who is secretary of the Iowa relief committee, which sent a shipload of grain to Russia, and Dr. Gardner, of Bedford, Ind., who has given 800 acres of neutral ground near that city to the Red Cross, were also present.

The Children's Building, which was opened last week, is doing a thriving business in its nursery department, and the gymnasium on the lower floor proves a strong attraction. Classes in physical culture, which are added to daily, have been formed, and are drilled every morn-ing by Prof. Hartung, while the children's gardens are filing up. In the nursery floor many babies are being taken care of. A mother brings her little one to this place in the morning, and, after having the baby 25 cents, she spends the day in seeing the | been strengthened.

fair. The children play in a glass-roofed nursery and have the best of attention from trained nurses during the mother's absence, the place being conducted on thoroughly scientific principles.

Next week will be notable musically. Numerous choral societies from many cities and States will be present and works of greater importance will be given. On Tuesday the St. Paul, Minn., Choral Society of 250 voices will give a concert in ciety of 250 voices will give a concert in Festival Hall. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the first section of representative choral societies of the Western States, numbering 1,500, will give concerts. For these occasions the exposition orchestra will be increased to two hundred, and the great organ will probably be heard for the first time. Next Saturday Brahm's 'German Hymn' will be given by the Cincinnati festival chorus. The soloists next week include Miss Emma Juch, the well-known soprano; Herr William Fisher, the first basso; Mr. Edward Lloyd, the English tenor, and Miss Lena Little, a favorite Boston contralto. ton contralto.

The famous Blarney stone which, for centuries, occupied a place in the walls of historic old Blarney Castle, in Ireland, has arrived at the world's fair. It was shipped here by Lady Aberdeen, and will form one of the attractions of her Irish village. This afternoon it was placed on the walls of the reproduction of Blarney Castle, which forms a part of the Irish village, where it may be kissed by all who have the hardihood to be lowered into the pit where it is to rest. The historic old stone will be formally unveiled by Mayor Carter H. Harrison to-morrow. An elaborate programme has been propared for the event. Speeches will be made, songs sung, and Miss Sullivan, the Irish harpist, brought to this country by Lady Aberdeen, will perform on the harp.

The Russian section in the Manufactures Building will be open to-morrow. There will be a few short speeches and a reception from 3 until 5 o'clock.

The fact leaked out to-day that at Wednesday's meeting of the executive committee of the local directory of the world's fair it was decided to discontinue, after July 1, the appropriation for the department of publicity and promotion, of which Major Moses P. Handy, of Philadelphia is chief. The committee has made no annonncement to this effect, but one of the directors in an interview this afternoon said the report was correct.

BUNDAY-CLOSING CASE,

The Federal Court of Appeals May Render a Decision This Morning. CHICAGO, June 16,-In the United States Court of Appeals, to-day, attorney James L. High concluded his argument against opening the world's fair on Sunday. Edwin Walker followed, closing the case for world's fair. A large crowd was present before the doors opened, and remained unwearied in court throughout the lengthy wearied in court throughout the lengthy talks and despite the oppressive weather.

Mr. Walker discussed the legal relations existing between the government and the world's Columbian exposition corporation.

"Not a dollar's worth of property now owned and controlled by the World's Columbian Exposition Company, he said, "can be in any way controlled by the government, as no part of the title is vested in the United States, but only in the corporation." Mr. Walker next reviewed the opinions rendered by Judges Woods and Jenkins, Judge Grosscup dissenting, whereby an injunction was granted whereby an injunction was granted world's restraining bian exposition from keeping the gates to the fair open on Sundays. The salient points were drawn out and authorsalient points were drawn out and authorities cited to establish the error of the court below. In closing his argument, attorney Walker said that whatever might be the decision of the learned court, he himself and those he represented would be content to abide by it.

At the close of Mr. Walker's argument the judges held a short consultation, and Chief Justice Fuller announced that court was adjourned until 11 o'clock to-merrow. As the world's fair case is the only business before the court it is confidently expected

ROW IN A CHURCH.

A Preacher, Against Whom Serious Charges Had Been Made, Assaults His Accuser.

DETROIT, Mich., June 16 .-- At a meeting of the congregation of Unity Church this evening charges were preferred against the pastor, Rev. C. C. Goodrich, which attacked the moral character of the latter proper conduct with a female member of the congregation. The meeting was composed of two factions, one of them the pastor's friends and the other those who had preferred the charges against him. The charges were read and the pastor made a long statement in his own defense supplemented by a large number of letters in support of his moral character.

Rev. Mr. Bullock, the leader of the oppo-sition, arose when the pastor had finished and said that he was prepared to prove that the statements of Mr. Goodrich were "damnably false."

Mr. Goodrich thereupon became angry, rushed at Mr. Bullock and seized him by the throat. Several persons interfered before he could go any further, however. An exciting scene followed. Women, of whom there were many present, screamed and several fainted. The meeting was broken up in the confusion and the enemies of Mr. Goodrich withdrew to a private residence and resolved to withdraw from the church. It is also probable that most of the young people of the congregation will withdraw. owing to the scandalous nature of the charges. Mr. Bullock has in his possession several letters written to Mr. Goodrich by a lady of the congregation which are de-cidedly improper for a single lady to send to a married man, and the authenticity of which is not questioned.

Senator Vance Is Angry.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 16 .- A letter will be published here to-morrow from Senator L. E. Vance, of North Carolina, denouncing as maliciously false the story recently sent out purporting to giving an account of an attempted duel between J. H. Martin, stepson of Senator Vance, and Col. Paul Means, also of South Carolina. Senator Vance denounces the statements in the Washington Post, from which the story is said to have emanated, as a tissue of misrepresentations. He says Means did not enter his car and insult him about his opposition to the occupant of the Concord postoffice, and that, in fact, he is incapable of such an act.

Judge Sneed Will Accept. MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16.-Judge John L. T. Sneed, who on Wednesday was offered the appointment of consul-general to Honolulu, Sandwich Island, to-day telegraphed Secretary Gresham that he would accept. When seen to-night he declined to be interviewed on the proposed annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States, assigning as a reason that he could not discuss the subject until he had consulted the President and Secretary of State.

NEARLY READY FOR THE JURY

Testimony for the Defense in the Border Murder Case Concluded Yesterday.

One More Witness to Be Examined Monday, then the Attorneys Will Ventilate the Evidence and the Judge Deliver His Charge.

Straight Story Told by Miss Emma Borden in Behalf of Her Sister.

She Had No Quarrel with Lizzie in the Police Station-The "Painted" Dress and Why It Was Burned-Views of Lawyers.

EMMA BORDEN TESTIFIES.

She Tells About the Burned Dress and the Interview at the Police Station. NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 16,-The most sensational and mysterious murder case New England has known will soon be given to the jury. This atternoon, at 8:15 o'clock, the defense in the Borden trial rested its case. There was less of a crowd at the courthouse this morning, at the resumption of the trial, than there has been at any time since it was commenced. Among the early visitors was Miss Emma Borden, who, it was understood, was to be called by the defense, although she was down as a government witness. Miss Lizzie Borden told ex-Governor Robinson, as he greeted her, this morning, that she had not passed a very restful night, and the intimation came with a cheering smile that she would feel better by and by. The decision relative to the admission of the evidence of the Portuguese who saw the man with the bloody batchet talking to himself about "poor Mrs. Borden," was, in order, the first thing, and when the jury had beer polled counsel entered into a consultation with the justices upon some points which the latter desired more clearly. Following this the court said it was clear that the evidence could not be admitted.

lowing this the court said it was clear that the evidence could not be admitted.

The first witness to-day was Sarah H. Hart. She testified to having passed the Borden house on the morning of the day of the murders. "About 9:50 A. M., on the day of the murders," said she, "I passed by Mr. Borden's house with my sister-in-law, Mrs. Manley. We passed by the north gate, and stopped there to speak to my nephew, who was in a carriage. While I was there I saw a young man standing in the gateway. It was not Mr. Borden. He was resting his head on his elbow on the gatepost. I was there five minutes, and when I went away he was there. He did not change his position that I noticed. He turned his head to look at me. I did not know the man."

Charles S. Sawyer, a painter from Fall River, next testified. He said: "I recall the day officer Allen put me on guard at the side door of the Borden house. That was after we had been in the house. Miss Russell, Mrs. Churchill, Miss Lizzie and Bridget Sullivan were in the kitchen, Miss Lizzie was sitting in a rocking-chair, and the others seemed to be working over her, fanning her and rubbing her handa. I was close to her all the time. She appeared to be somewhat distressed. I saw no signs of blood on her head, hair, hands or dress." By this witness it was proven that many people were swarming about the Borden house and in the barn where Lizzie is said to have been during the murders, and where officer Medley afterwards subsequently went and could find no trace of Miss Borden or anyone else.

THE "GIVE-AWAY" STORY UNTRUE.

THE "GIVE-AWAY" STORY UNTRUE. John J. Manning, a Fall River newspaper reporter, was next called. He said be first heard of the Borden murder some time before 11:30 o'clock, and examined the house and premises, finding the cellar door closed. Said the witness: "I remember the publication of Police Matron Reagan's story of the 'give-away' interview between the sisters. I also had an interview with her. I think it was the same night of the publication. In answer to a question from me she said there was nothing in it. I wanted to know whether it was true or not, and I wanted a negative or affirmative statement. I saw her at her house; there was another person with me. I did not read the story to her, but told her what had been printed. When I went to see Mrs. Reagan I was local reporter for the Associated Press, and it was in that capacity that I went to see about the truth or falsity of that story. Another newspaper man was with me for the same purpose, and she knew we were reporters.'

Thomas F. Hickey, another reporter of Fall River, next testified. He said: "In my capacity as reporter I saw Mrs. Reagan on Friday about the story referred to by Mr. Manning. I said, 'I see you're getting yourself in the paper, Mrs. Reagan.' She said, 'Yes, but they have got to take that all back.' I asked her about the alleged quarrel between Lizzie and Emma, and she said there had been no quarrel. I asked her if she had repeated any words of the sisters, and also if there was any truth in the report. She said there was absolutely

Mrs. Mary R. Holmes, Fall River, wife of

Charles J. Holmes, said: "I know Miss Borden and have known who she was from childhood. She is a member of the church I attend. I first heard of the Borden murder at 11:45 A. M. I went to the house about 1 o'clock and sat down in the kitchen. Some one told me soon after that Lizzie would like to see me. I remained in the house with Lizzie until 8:30 P. M. I remember the publication of Mrs. Reagan's quarrel story. After it was pub-lished I had a talk with Mrs. Reagan about it. She first spoke to me about it, eaying: 'Mrs. Holmes, you know it is not so; for that was the time we were talking about the eggs.' Subsequently I heard Mrs. Reagan say that she would sign a certain paper if Marshal Hilliard were willing. At this time I was in the matron's room, and she made no statement, as she returned after having talked with some men who

Charles Holmes, a Fall River banker, next testified as follows: "I was present at the hearing on the first day in the Fall River courthouse. I know about the paper River courthouse. I know about the paper given Mrs. Reagan to sign. It was read to Mrs. Reagan. I heard it read; I have a copy of the original paper in my pocket, and I have also a copy of the newspaper in which it was published. [Here witness produced a copy of the Fall River Herald.] The article was found and vouched for by Mr. Jennings. Witness was shown a typewritten copy of the same. He identified it and read it. It was essentially a denial of the story. Witness said it was read to Mrs. Reagan and she said it was true and that Reagan and she said it was true and that she would sign it if the marshal would allow her. She did not sign it because the marshal refused to let her."

John R. Colwell, a reporter of New York, said: "I reported the trial in Fail River. I recall the dates when Mrs. Reagan was asked to sign the paper and saw it read to her, but was too far off to hear what was said. Mrs. Reagan took the paper to Mar-shal Hilliard, and he said if she signed is it would be against his orders. Then she went out and he ordered me out.'

Mrs. Mary E. Brigham, Fall River, was called to the stand. She said: "I know Lizzie Borden and have known her all my life. We were lifelong triends. I visited her quite frequently. Mrs. Reagan told me one day after court, when we were in the matron's room, about a quarrel between the sisters. I saw Mr. Buck with a paper in his hand, which he read to her. They both went out, and she came back mad. She said she was willing to sign the paper, but that the marshal would not let her; that she would rather leave her place than to stay where she had been fied about; that it was all a lie, and there had been no quarrel." EMMA BORDEN'S TESTIMONY. Emma L. Borden, sister of Miss Lizze Borden next testified She said "We
